

RED AND BLACK BEAT ISLANDERS IN LAST GAME

Never Headed—Glorious Finish to a Great Season

Victory marked the end of the basketball season for the Cardinal squad when they defeated the Grand Island college five in Jacobs' gym, 12 to 8, victory that was well earned and enjoyed. Playing an airtight brand of defense through which Grand Island scored but twice, the Maroons swept through the out-stater's defense for twice as many points. Meek was the individual point getter with four points.

Grabbing the lead at the start, Coach Adams' cage squad fought with a stubbornness that was not to be denied. Meek and Anderson accounted for most of the points in the first half, while the entire team clamped down on the defense holding the Islanders to one field goal and two free throws. The score stood 7 to 4 at the half.

Grand Island came back strong at the second opening and the score was soon 10 to 6, but Slater and Drdla made it 12 to 8 when they each sank a free throw. The defense of both teams was excellent but the offense was weak. Omaha had the better of the offense however, while Grand Island depended on the long shot followed in to make their points.

D-A-M-N CLUB BEING ORGANIZED AT OMAHA U

New Club Promises to Be Live Society—Membership Exclusive.

Due to the hard and untiring efforts of Leon King and Mable Margrove, a new live wire club is being organized at the university, with the club name as the D-A-M-N club, standing for "Dad's A Minister Now."

Such a club has been organized at various other colleges with marked success. With the number of minister's sons and daughters at the school a great success is assured to the club.

Any student who's father is a minister is eligible to the D-A-M-N club. All students that are eligible and desire membership give their names to Leon King, Mable Margrove, Carl Stomburg or John Kuhn.

The Tarkio college conservatory faculty and students will broadcast from WOAW on Friday evening, March 14. The Tarkio band will present the dinner program.

U. OF O. ENDOWMENT BOOSTED BY GIFT CHECK

Christiana B. Athouse Presents Dr. Jenkins With Five Hundred Dollars.

The University was very fortunate Monday when Dr. Jenkins received a check for $500 from Christiana B. Athouse, an old friend of the Doctor and of the school.

In speaking of the donation, Dr. Jenkins said that he considered this contribution the most pleasant he ever received. The check is to go into the endowment fund of the school.

CHECKER AND CHESS TOURNAMENTS CONTINUE

Tiddly-Winks Bold Facedly Insulted by Unknown Vandal.

The checker tournament continues to career along its mad journey to the finals. So far the various contestants are still alive, although they show signs of insanity.

In the third round, with King, Pressly, Nellan, and Roberts still in the running, and with Kutak and Christy yet to play, the dope is liable to suffer a terrible upset. However, as the dope pans out now, Nellan will probably take Roberts into camp, and King is the favored man in his match.

No dope is available as yet on the chess matches, although several matches have been played.

The tiddly winks tournament seemed to have been nipped in the bud of expectancy, when some unkind desecrator disfigured the entrants.

LITTLE THEATER SCHOOL OFFERS SCHOLARSHIP

Two Scholarships for Summer Session Offered American College Students—Gloucester.

The Gloucester School of the Little Theater, Gloucester, Mass., is offering two scholarships to undergraduates of American schools and colleges for its fifth summer session, July and August of 1924.

In their Little Theater, a picturesque old wharf building nestling among the shipyards and studios, the Gloucester Players last summer produced almost thirty plays which included such pieces as:

"A Night at An Inn," Dunsany; "Wurzel-Flummery," Milne; "Riders to the Sea," Synge; "The Land of Hearts Desire," Yeats, and "Moon Tide," Clements. The school connected with the theater offers courses in stage lighting, scenery, make-up, dancing, public speaking and acting. The seven members of the faculty include: Mrs. Florence Evans, director of the Boston School of Public Speaking and the Florence Evans Players; Miss Florence Cunningham, of the Vieux Colombier and founder of The Playhouse-On-The-Moors, and Colin Campbell Clements (author of Plays for a Folding Theater, etc.) who with Edna St. Vincent Millay and Eugene O'Neill has been called one of the founders of a new school of American playwriting.

Letters for information concerning the scholarships to the Gloucester School of the Little Theater should be addressed to Miss Florence Cunningham, 112 Charles St., Boston.

The special faculty meeting, Thursday, February 21st was of a strictly disciplinary nature.

GALA DAY COMMITTEE COMPLETING PLANS

Members Elected From All Classes and Busy Already.

Plans for gala day are progressing nicely. The members of the central committee have been elected by the various classes and already this body has commenced to function.

The members of the committee are as follows: Chairman, Herbert Fischer; senior, Helen Neff; junior, Ben Mead; sophomore, Alice Ruf; freshman, Thelma Marks. With a good executive body such as here represented, the success of this year's Gala day seems already assured.

DOCTOR VARTANIAN A HIT WITH INSTITUTE

Popular U. of O. Professor Given Fine Reception at Council Bluffs Institute.

Doctor Vartanian stood out in a way gratifying to his friends at the Council Bluffs Bible Institute last week. There were five members on the faculty, each a specialist in his particular subject, with Doctor Vartanian giving a course in Bible study. His first lecture was on the Bible in general; the second a study of the book of Acts; the third and fourth were chapter studies of the first and fourth chapter of John, and the fifth concerned itself with a synopsis of the gospel of John and with phrase study of the sayings of Christ, such as "I am the light" and "I am the bread of life."

Doctor Vartanian was the only teacher who lectured to the entire student body. The other teachers taught classes in methods of instruction in the various departments of Sunday school work.

Those who attended the school heard much favorable comment concerning Doctor Vartanian. Mr. Stuckenberg, pastor of the First Christian Church of Council Bluffs, said, "I never heard any teacher like Doctor Vartanian! While studying at Drake university never did I have a professor that was his equal."

Rev. Catlin of the First Baptist Church said, "Doctor Vartanian is a wonderful and a profound teacher."

The Daily Nonparel made special mention of Doctor Vartanian's work as follows: "The Bible hour stood out as one of the most interesting of the classes at the local institute."

Omaha university is truly fortunate in having a man such as Doctor Vartanian as a professor.

BASKETBALL PICTURES TAKEN BY SKOGLUND

The basketball men had their pictures taken Tuesday afternoon at the Skoglund studio, both individuals and groups being taken. These pictures will add much to the interest of the annual.

HOT DOGS POPULAR AT WEDNESDAY Y. W. SALE

The Y. W. girls had a hot dog sale Wednesday noon in the Renaissance lunch room. Many who were in doubt as to the meaning of "Dogs with or without" found to their surprise that the "with or without" part referred to onions and the other component parts that go to make up a real honest to goodness hot dog.

BASKETBALLERS HONORED WITH SCHOOL MIXER

Large Crowd Enjoys Self to Utmost—Team Kneels

A lively bunch of Omaha Uni boost-ers numbering about 200 gathered in the gym Friday evening for the all-school mixer given by the Peppy 13 in honor of the basketball men. Mildred Dunham was chairman of the affair. Cecil Fisher of the Y. M. C. A. conducted the games, and kept them going in such a manner as to prevent one dull or quiet moment throughout the evening. The one in which everyone was obliged to toss a basket appealed especially to the crowd. Coach Adams must have looked askance at the fine material he overlooked for the team. Calisthenics succeeded in limbering up everyone.

Following the strenuousness of the early evening, a program was presented while the crowd had their first chance to sit still. Ida Lustgarten read the "Merry, Merry Cuckoo," and followed with a humorous encore. Ed Sterner gave two saxophone numbers, and Jack Bozendahl yodeled. Then each member of the team was obliged to kneel before the crowd, while girl basketball players came forth and crowned each man with a red and black skull cap. Wearing these, the players and the girls who had presented them with the caps, lined up to lead the grand march. Everyone marched for about five minutes, the march finally ending at a table where coffee, doughnuts, and cookies were served. Double portions were served to anyone desiring more food. By this time, it was 11 o'clock; so no more games were played, but numbers remained for awhile longer, to shoot baskets.

CECILE PERKINS MADE NEW PRESIDENT EC CLUB

Total Reorganization of Club—Some Changes in Constitution Proposed.

A virtual re-organization of the Home Ec club, took place Wednesday noon, February 27th when Miss Perkins was elected president to succeed Miss Beach, who has left school. Miss Perry was made vice president, and Edith Prouse as secretary-treasurer was given charge of the books. A committee headed by Miss Eaton was appointed to make minor changes in the constitution, and other committee under Miss Perry was given charge of plans for the club pins.

Miss Smith extended an invitation to the girls of the Home Ec club to spend a social afternoon at her home in Florence, Friday, March 14th. The next business meeting will be held Friday, 3 p. m., February 20th.

Through some playfulness on the part of some of our sophomores, the door to Miss Zozaya's room, "sigue rompiendo," as she would say. The exact details of the accident have not yet been ascertained, but the common consensus of opinion is that Slater and Anderson were eye witnesses.

EDITORIAL

GRAB A SPOKE.

Dear Editor: Human nature is a funny thing. On the whole, it is a pretty good thing. One of its most noticeable characteristics is the desire to be good, and its healthy pleasure on seeing good done. That is as a silver lining among the dark clouds, to cheer the despondent, to renew the courage of the few faithful ones who carry on despite the lack of support. Not moral support, mind you, but the real, tangible, material support.

That is at the bottom of most of our failures; it concerns our political and social organizations, our national and local groups, our homes, churches and schools. It is not the lack of moral support. Everyone seems to have that. But it alone is detrimental to those who really do the work. It is indeed a courageous, altruistic soul who can work for the benefit of all with only moral support to back him.

How very effective this can be brought home to us in this school! We need not ask for more spirit—for a finer group of students. We are not hampered by traditions. There is nowhere a better opportunity for the development of individuality. It is the students who make up the school. And the final power lies in the majority, the student body.

The writer has heard many times comments on the fine spirit—and the lack of results. The blame was put on the administration, for the lack of co-operation.

Granting, for the sake of argument, that the administration is not as enthusiastic as it might be, the fact still remains that the student body, concentrating its energies, and actively participating in whatever task it is possible to perform, can accomplish incredible results. So if those kind-hearted and well-wishing souls forget the administration awhile, take off their coats and work, their attitude might change.

Sincerely,

JEROME F. KUTAK.

A VOICE FROM OLYMPUS.

God of Noise speaking. Subject—yells.

Addressing students, University of Omaha.

"You know, you college students of scientific yelling, that a good yell must come from your toes. My congratulations on this. Many mortals think it has its humble origin in the lungs. Fundamentally fallacious! From the toes—irrefutably it must be from the toes.

But to lapse into a terrestrial colloquialism, that ain't all. It must come from the toes—verily, but as surely it must, to burst forth upon the atmosphere full force, come straight up from the toes.

And, as Deity of Noise, I defy any self respecting yell to come straight when the author of it is sitting down!

Also I defy it to come from momentum. Do you not have to slow your Ford down at corners? How can you then expect to conduct a yell safely in a crooked path without applying the brakes

Physiologically, yellologically, it cannot be done. Leg muscles are for use. To do a good job, you have to stand up, stand straight, step on the accelerator—and yell.

By special telegram I am informed that Mr. Stromburg has mentioned this fact to you. I beg to stress it, and to insist that, when you invade my domain, you eliminate the corners. This is a post mortem of the basketball season, and prelude to track and to all future events.

PHI DELTA PSI.

Doris Reiff called a special meeting at her home on Wednesday evening, March 5, to discuss plans for Gateway Annual photographs.

The regular business meeting was held Saturday, March 1, at the home of Gwendolyn Cheek.

Phi Sigma Phi.

At the last regular meeting held at the home of Merle Jones, the following men were formally pledged: Jack Bozendahl, Walter Edmiston, Robert Rusgorshek, Fleming Schneider and George Wright.

Pledges have already begun their course in higher learning, and are progressing rapidly. Their instructors think them fine material. Although lacking in many respects at first, they are now rounding down to good form and development.

Alpha Sigma Lambda Notes.

The fraternity held a theater party at the Orpheum Theater last Monday night, followed by a feed at Candyland. Seventeen were in attendance.

Professor Roy Cameron has been elected faculty advisor of the fraternity and will walk the hot sands some time in the near future.

Lloyd Rengan has been pledged to the fraternity. Al Bell and he were navy chums and both are very good boxers. We ought to have some good bouts at some of our meetings.

The fraternity is now publishing a monthly newspaper containing all the latest news about the fraternity and all the scandal and dope on the members.

The next issue of the official organ of the fraternity, "At Ye Signs of Ye Lampe," a quarterly publication, comes out May 13th.

Plans are under way for an act for Gala day.

COURTESY OF SILENCE.

Of late there have been some rather flagrant cases of inattention and conversation during chapel and lecture periods. These offenders show extreme rudeness to those speaking and to those trying to listen. Our students should realize it is hard enough to get speakers and lecturers here, without insulting them with noisy indifference when they do come. The school can and must do better. In the future let all speakers be greeted with a considerate silence.

When Dave Noble walked up to the front of the gym the day of the mass meeting the effect was the same as if Lester Meek himself was up there. All the girls' hearts stopped and they sighed as though Valentino or the aforesaid Lester were there instead of the big "moose."

Youth, looking at the picture of a palm grove, says: "What a beautiful grove." Middle-age, looking at it, says: "How hot it must be there."

MUSIC BROADCAST BY UNIVERSITY TALENT

Glee Clubs and Public School Music Class Sing Over Radio—Is Much Enjoyed.

Radio "fans" were given a real treat Thursday evening, February 28, when the public school music department under the direction of Miss Johanna Anderson, assisted by the two glee clubs of the University, broadcast from WOAW.

Especially pleasing was the humorous selection "In Jungle Land" sung by the Boys Glee club. The senior students of the public school music department, accompanied by Verda Bennett Hickie sang "Gondola Song" in a delightful manner. The well known and ever popular song "Beauteous Night" from Tales of Hoffman was sung by the mixed chorus with Ella Bolling Woodward, Mary Gordon, and Josephine Drapler as soloists. The Boys' Glee club accompanied by Howard Anderson, sang "For Fellowship and Song," and our own University song, "The Millers Wooing," the next number by the mixed chorus was pleasing though not as melodious as their previous selection "Beauteous Night." The solos by Ferne Shoup and Walter Munson were exceedingly well rendered.

The concluding number, "Goodnite, Goodnite Beloved," though not sung by university students, was beautiful of its harmonious rendition and concluded the program in a successful manner. Much credit must be given to Miss Johanna Anderson for her faithful efforts and most enjoyable results.

Her Husband—I wish I could remember if I paid that last life insurance installment.

Mrs. Mulchance—Yes, it's paid. I phoned the company about it last week when you were sick.

Looking Ahead.

Mr. Newlywed—Well, dear, I've insured my life for $5,000.

Mrs. Newlywed—Oh, Jack, and the car I want costs seven!

The Tripping Tongue Again.

Sickroom Visitor—Well, I hope that the next time I call you will be up.

Sufferer—Thanks; I trust that I will not only be up, but out.

A Rescue Worth Making.

PETER'S POSER

Little Peter was of an inquiring turn of mind.

"Daddy," he asked one day, "is today tomorrow?"

"No, my son, of course it isn't tomorrow," was the reply.

"But you said it was," murmured Peter.

"When did I say today was tomorrow?" asked father.

"Yesterday," answered Peter.

"Well, it was. Today was tomorrow yesterday, but today is today, just as yesterday was today yesterday, but is yesterday today, and tomorrow will be today tomorrow, which makes today yesterday and tomorrow all at once. Now run along and play."

Different Now.

"I understand your wife wouldn't permit you to carry a latchkey when you were first married."

"That's all over with," replied Mr. Meekton. "Henrietta doesn't care whether I have a latchkey or not. I always stay in the house nights to let her in when she comes home."—Washington Star.

Friend—When she gets angry with her husband she resorts to her club.

Old Lady—Dear me, you'd never suspect her of such violence to look at her.

Tip to Bridegrooms.

Although your wife
May not be very bright,
At least you'll find
That she is always right.

White Potato—Oh, Miss Sweet Potato, you are so sweet

Two Irishmen had visited St. Paul's cathedral. One was from the country and had been taken to the famous building by his friend, who wished him to be duly impressed by its grandeur. As they came out the resident of the city said:

"Well, Mike, and phwat do you think of it? Isn't it grand?"

"Pat," said the one from the country, "it hates the divil!"

"That," said his friend, "was the intention."

The Next Train.

"John," said the commuter's wife, "what train does Mr. Lawnmower take to town?"

"He takes the one after mine."

"If he takes the train after yours, how do you know what train he takes?"

"Because that's the one I take."

UP TO HER.

He—There's a report going around that we are engaged.

She—Can't you stop it?

He—I'd rather verify it, if you haven't any objection.

Firms to Trust.

A pretty good firm is Watch and Walte.
And another is Attit Early and Layte;
And still another is Do and Daret,
But the best of all is Grin and Bulrett.

The Old Hen.

Mr. Flubdub didn't like his mother-in-law. He came in one day and, hearing a racket, demanded: "What's the old hen up to now?"

"Laying a carpet," replied his wife briefly.

NO PAY—NO ROOM

Boarding House Mistress—He was a very sociable fellow, but, as he didn't pay his rent, I had to get rid of him.

Star Boarder—In that case his room is better than his company.

Colder or Warmer.

The weather sharp his charts will scan
In quest of knowledge all exact;
But, oh, the janitor's the man
Who makes you know the real fact.

In Round Numbers.

Suffering Kid—Pa, did you ever have a tooth pulled?

Papa (with great gusto)—Have I, my boy? I should say so; hundreds of them.

A Conscientious Objector.

Magistrate—Did you obtain any corroboration?

Witness—Not me! I don't believe in it. I'm not afraid of smallpox.—London Tit-Bits.

Had No Reproaches.

Wife—Don't you think it's a shame for me to be going to church alone every Sunday?

Huh—Oh, I don't know. You might be doing something worse.

He Should Know.

Hotel Manager—The longest way around is the shortest way home, ya know.

Stranger—I'll say so! That's the way these taxicab drivers figure it.

MILDRED DUNHAM DOES PLENTY TO KEEP BUSY

Mildred Dunham, freshman at the University of Omaha, is one of the busiest persons attending school. She is taking a full pre-med course, which by the way, she carried along with three A's and one B-plus, and at the same time is holding down her job as steno for Burns-Brinker, investment brokers.

Mildred was one of the five delegates from the University to the national student's volunteer convention held at Indianapolis the end of the past year, and is one of the active members of the volunteer group at school.

After Mildred has finished her seven-year medical course, which she is taking to fit herself for surgery, she is going to go as medical missionary somewhere, India being her choice.

Slight Misunderstanding.

Little Waldo (home from a visit to his aunt)—Mamma, do Christian people eat each other like the heathens do?

Mother—Why, Waldo, what makes you think such nonsense?

Waldo—Well, auntie said they were going to have Hector Jones for dinner tomorrow!

A Pirate His Real Desire.

Johnny—Mother, when I grow up I want to be a minister.

Mother—Oh, you dear, good boy! And why?

Johnny—'Cause I was reading that boys never grow up to be what they want to be.

Bucket-Shop Methods.

Visitor—What's up? Had a bad day?

Financier—Yes. I've lost over $5,000, and the worst of it is that £20 of it was my own money.—Passing Show (London).

SPELLBOUND

Teacher—Why don't you spell the word, James? Are you in a trance?

James—I—I'm spellbound, ma'am; that's straight.

Wake Up, You're Dreaming.

"Of these fool laws we've had enough," remarked old Mister Dawes, "I think 'twould meet a greater need 'To pass some fool-proof laws."

Got Only a Scent.

"A little fellow, I know," writes M. K., "was diligently sweeping off his neighbor's walk and I stopped and asked him what he was getting for his work."

"Oh," he said, "Mr. Conley promised he would let me smell his flowers when I got through."

To Evade Punishment.

Bobby—Can't I change my name today, ma?

Mother—What in the world do you want to change your name for?

Bobby—'Cause pa said he will whip me when he gets home as sure as my name's Robert.

Wanted More.

The Lawyer—I have succeeded in making a settlement with your husband that is eminently fair to both of you."

Mrs. Triplewed—Fair to both! I could have done that myself. What do you think I hired you for?

Extremely So.

Louise—Now that you are engaged I suppose you are happy, aren't you, dear?

Lois—Not quite. Jack is so unreasonably jealous. Why he even wants a woman minister to marry us.

PETE SAYS—

It's too bad folks but it had to be. The basketball season is not with us any more. No more our hero gives us exhibitions of fancy divin', tacklin', etc., on the boards of the gymnasium. Them days is gone forever. Well the team wonned their last contest on the home court but they didn't surprise us, I tell you privadentially folks, the faculty was afraid that a surprise would result in a rushing business at the morgue cause they is so many weak hearts up hear.

Well the girls sold candy at the last game so's they could surprise the boys on the team and it sure was some surprise. They buyed some little caps like organ-grinder's monkeys wear and stuck em on the team at the mixer the other night. You see this here mixer was in the gym for the team and the girls hung hunks of paper all over the room so as to make it look carnivaly. Then that night they had music, games and whatnot (meaning coffee, doughnuts, and cookies.) Then they got the basketballers up in front and pasted the caps on their beaus after which they leads the grand march which ends up in eats. Miss Winters took one look at the team in these here caps and yells, "Oh where is Darwin, here's the missing Links."

That finished the season for the team. Let's all say ossivant to them, here they are Shiek, Slat, Reverend, Pete, Oub, Happy, Susy, Bozo, Cap, Chris, and that's all besides little Benny.

Au Revoir. PETE.

OMAHA FIGHTS

The basketball squad has just completed a season, a season in which the squad fought every minute. They won but three games of eleven, but at no time were they defeated by an overwhelming score.

In the first two games, the squad was defeated by margins of 3 and 1 points, respectively. Then with a squad that was wrecked by ineligibles, Adams took a green combination on the trip that managed to hold Wayne down to 18 to 10 and Midland, 19 to 12. Back on the home court the squad lost to Kearney Normal, 21 to 18; Wayne, 20 to 7; won from Midland, 19 to 15; Lam Doane, 18 to 13; lost to Chadron, 17 to 8; to Dana, 21 to 15, and won from Grand Island, 12 to 8.

The important thing to remember is that the team fought throughout with that indomitable fight that cannot be downed. Ineligibility, inexperience, injury, everything that could beset a team camped on the Cardinals' trail throughout the season. The school backed the team with the same fight and that was all the team asked. The team wants to thank the school for their loyal support. The school has already shown the team that they appreciate their fighting spirit.

LAW NOTES

Bill Raab was passing around cigars at class last Monday evening. The occasion was the arrival of Bill Raab, jr., Saturday evening, at the Methodist hospital. This future Omaha law student has the best wishes of all

Bill Senior's co-laborers.

Stuart Kelly's mother passed away last week after an illness of several months. Kelly and his sister accompanied the body to their home town in North Dakota. Friend Kelly has the sincere sympathy of all the fellows.

W. W. Graham was elected chairman and Frances Wiles, secretary-treasurer of the Republican club of the University of Omaha.

J. J. Jesse is a doomed man as far as logic class is concerned. Ask any of the logicians about it.

A Little Christening.

Customer—Waiter, do you call this oyster soup? Why, the oyster in it isn't big enough to flavor it!

Waiter—He wasn't put in to flavor it, sir. He's just supposed to christen it.

Length of Her Holiday.

He—So you've had a month's holiday?

She—Well—three weeks—and a week with my husband's people.

WORSE AND WORSE

Sister—I wish you wouldn't butt in when Charlie's here, you know how anxious I am to marry him.
Bobbie—That's what I told him.

Irresponsible Publication.

A Real Performance.
"They keep two servants."
"I wonder how they do it? I have difficulty getting one to stay longer than two weeks."

How Benedict Saw It.
She—When we were married you said I was the sun of your existence.
He—Well, you do make it pretty hot for me sometimes.

Long Time Between Meals.
Housewife—I don't believe you've washed yourself in the last year.
Tramp—You are right, lady. I wash myself only before I eat.

Papa and His Filiver.
"What's the trouble?"
"The car won't run."
"What's the matter?"
"Pa's been fixing it again."

LABOR SHORTAGE

Farmer Ragwort—Minerva, did ye notice that that new hired man is sort of makin' eyes at our Tilly?

Mrs. Ragwort—Yes, the impudent scamp. But Tilly will soon flare up and show him his place.

Farmer Ragwort—Er, what? Ye don't think as Tilly'd turn him down before I get the harvest in and the silos filled, do ye?

Presenting a Scapegoat.
"John, wake up," whispered his wife.
"There's a burglar in the house."
"Well, what do you want me to do—get up and run the risk of being killed?"
"No, but if you find in the morning that somebody's been through your pockets, don't blame me."

DANA PULLS OUT WINNER OVER OMAHA U QUINT

Blair Lads Surprise With Fast, Rug-ged Team—Better Than Many Here This Year.

Pulling away in the last quarter of the game, the Dana five from Blair won a hard fought contest from the Cardinals by the score of 21 to 15. The game was an uncertain affair from the start with frequent substitutions slowing it up considerably.

Soon after the opening whistle, Dana scored and the count ran 11 to 4 in favor of the Blair squad before the home team found their stride, when substitutions seemed to give the team new life. The score was 12 to 11 when the halfway mark was reached. Thompson, playing his first game, sank two pretty shots while Slater and Meek accounted for the other markers on the score sheet.

Second Half Breaks Hearts.

The second half opened a good deal like the first only in the second stanza there was no comeback on the part of the Omahans. Dana scored to take the lead and from then on it was nip and tuck until the final whistle ended the count. Slater blew a couple of easy chances because he was going too fast to shoot while Thompson also missed one. Late in the half with the count, 18 to 15, Bolzendahl committed his fourth foul which put him from the game and made the score, 19 to 15. Just as the whistle blew, a one-handed side shot made the count, 21 to 15, in the Blair teams favor.

Captain Wade Reeves was back in the lineup for Omaha but he did not seem to have his eye when locating the hoop. The whole squad missed several easy shots apiece. Thompson and Slater played nicely for the home crew, but the team as a whole looked a bit ragged.

FROSH CLASS EMERGE FROM ANOTHER MEETING

Schleh Defends Self From Slander—
Thelma Marks Chosen to G. D. Committee—Party Soon.

The Freshman class met Tuesday to complete arrangements for the St. Patrick's day party, and to elect their representative to the central committee for Gala day.

An objection was raised some time ago to the treasurer of the class. Schleh, who is the said treasurer, was on hand to defend himself, explaining that as soon as the class had money he would be glad to function.

It was decided to charge everyone in the class twenty-five cents to cover expenses for the party.

After the report of the finance committee, the class went directly to the election of the Gala day committeeman.

Nominations brought forth such noted characters as Stromburg, Swift, Everson and Marks. Thompson was nominated, but due to outside activities he declined. When the ballots had been counted, Thelma Marks led Alice Everson by a two-vote majority and was elected.

In Miss Marks the class has a sterling worker, and one who will be an asset to the work on the Gala day staff.
